

Arkansas Meadow Rose

by Debby Kratovil

“Beautiful pink wild flowers that dot the meadows of Arkansas fade and die in cold weather...[but are] pictured permanently in a colorful original quilt.” Kansas City Star newspaper, October 9, 1935

This lovely pattern, though over 65 years old, remains timeless as its simple country folk art charm speaks to us. Benartex fabrics update this beauty for today’s quilter. I chose several fabrics from both the Belle France and Berry Patch collections.
